

Eat After Every Workout

Why?

- Eating after practice or a workout helps an athlete to recover faster. This results in reduced muscle soreness and fatigue.
- Eating after a workout helps an athlete to improve performance, and keep energy levels high.
- Eating a meal or snack that is a combination of carbohydrates and protein helps to restore energy stores of glycogen in muscles as well as helps repair and rebuild muscles.

Post-Workout Foods

- Chocolate milk
- Banana and Peanut Butter Sandwich or P.B. & J
 - Greek Yogurt + granola
 - Smoothie
- Veggie Omelet with 1-2 slices of toast
- Turkey, Roast Beef and Cheese Sandwich + apple
- Chicken breast + sweet potato wedges + veggies
 - Scrambled eggs and pancakes
 - Protein Bar
 - Cottage cheese and Fruit
 - Trail mix + sports drink
 - Banana + handful of almonds
 - Apple slices + peanut butter
 - Tuna on crackers
 - Pita + hummus

Optimal Recovery occurs within 30 minutes of completing activity!

This should happen after an intense workout!! If your workout is 30 minutes or less, or low intensity- a recovery meal is probably not necessary.

So you want to gain muscle??

Effective muscle gain Do's:

1. Increase frequency of eating- aim for at least 3 meals and 2-3 snacks
2. Increase intake of calorie dense foods at EVERY meal and snack
3. Finish everything on your plate (Putting larger portions in front of you can help promote an increased intake)
4. Increase intake of calories from beverages at meals and in between meals
5. Hydrate with a Sports Drink instead of just water
6. Eat a night time snack
7. Carry snacks with you
8. Make sandwiches on bagels

Healthy Weight Loss Strategies for Athletes

Healthy Meal Planning Tips

Eat 5-6 small meals throughout each day

DO NOT skip meals

Choose Lean Proteins

Choose Low-Fat Dairy Items

Rely on Low-Calorie beverages

- Water, unsweetened tea, flavored waters

Increase non-starchy veggie intake at meals and snacks

Pair carbs with protein/healthy fats at meals and snacks to increase satiety.

Choose whole, high fiber grains as your carbohydrate choice

Reduce intake of saturated fats

- Fried foods, packaged foods, creamy sauce, condiments, spreads, dressings & high fat cheese

Limit Alcohol

1. Sit, Eat, and Savor- Eating on the go constantly can wreak havoc on tasting and enjoying food with all the senses. SLOW DOWN! Savor the flavor, taste and aroma of your meal. This will help your stomach process to your brain that you are eating, and prevent over-eating or mindless grazing.
2. Don't Deprive Yourself—as human beings, we have an urgent reaction to food deprivation: usually it's overindulgence! Make peace with all foods, and enjoy everything in moderation and proper portions
3. Drink Plenty of Water- The body is able to metabolize fat more optimally when the body is well hydrated. Drink fluids consistently throughout the day- try to drink half your weight in fluid oz. So if someone weighed 160lbs they would reach for at least 80oz of water/day

4. Eat Bulky Foods- Foods like fruit, vegetables, soups, whole grain breads, and oatmeal are not only rich in many essential nutrients, but because of their high water and fiber content they help to keep you full and satisfied throughout the day.
5. Aim for 7-9 Hours of Sleep—Sleeping less could serve as a trigger to the body to increase food intake and store fat.

Eating Healthy at Chipotle:

Build your best meal for optimal performance at Chipotle:

Step # 1	Step #2	Step # 3	Step #4
Choose your meal:	Choose your meat:	Healthy fillings:	Use caution with these high calorie add-ins (pick one)
Burrito Bowl	Barbacoa	Brown rice OR Black Beans	Sour Cream
	Chicken	Fajita Vegetables	Guacamole
	Carnitas	Fresh Tomato Salsa	Cheese
	Steak	Roasted Chili-Corn Salsa
		Romaine Lettuce

This Burrito Bowl will provide you approximately: 450-580 calories, 57 g carbohydrates and 44g protein.

Other Tips:

- The 4 meat choices are similar in regards to nutrition, pick your favorite.

Guacamole is your best choice in Step #4. It is calorie dense, but contains healthy fats and nutrients

- Choose Brown Rice or Black Beans, or get a small scoop of both.
- Ask for extra Fajita Vegetables- to help fill you up, but not out!
- If a Burrito Bowl is not your favorite, your next best options would include:
 - Soft Corn Tortilla- 60 calories per tortilla
 - Crispy Taco Shell- 60 calories per shell
 - Flour tortilla- 90 calories per tortilla
